will enchant you...

Treatment of the face, neck and arms with warm coconut pouches. In addition to relaxation, the procedure stimulates the lymphatic system, relaxes the muscles and visibly lifts contours.

The ritual starts with a pressure massage of the neck and face, followed by the warming up of the upper body with a coconut pouch. The entire relaxation procedure is finished off with a nourishing mask that leaves your skin soft and replenished.

PURE FIJI

Feel the fresh touch of tropical paradise and pamper yourself on the waves of original restorative rituals...

A full-body massage with warm coconut pouches soothes the muscles and helps improve overall bodily and mental wellbeing. It also helps restore energy and has a positive impact on the organism.

Two types of pouches are used for the massage – a coconut pouch (the coconut is harvested and processed in mere hours to preserve its curative properties) and a herbal-tamarind pouch (peeling effect). The procedure is finished with an intensive full-body massage and treatment with Fiji coconut butter, which firms and deeply nourishes the skin.
